ΑΝΔΡΙΑΝΑ
ΘΕΟΔΩΡΑΚΟΠΟΥΛΟΥ

PARTNER, STANTON CHASE

Based in Greece, Andriana is a Partner at the Athens office. She holds a high level of expertise as a consultant in talent acquisition and executive assessment mainly focused on the Consumer Products & Services and the Professional Services sector. Additionally, Andriana leads the Leadership & Organizational Culture advisory services for the local office.

Through her long experience in the field of executive recruitment and recent work on cultural transformation and organizational development projects she has accumulated a strategic understanding of the tangible interlink between effective leadership and a healthy organizational culture. “Watching a company thrive under the new leadership of a placement we have made and thus unlocking the collective potential of the whole team is truly rewarding”

Prior to joining Stanton Chase in 2007, Andriana worked within the HR department of an international cement company, a position from which she also gained valuable “client – side” insights.

Andriana holds an MA in Human Resources and Knowledge Management from Lancaster University, UK and a BSc. in Marketing & Communications from Athens University of Economics and Business. She is a Hofstede Insights certified practitioner and a qualified user of assessment and personal development tools.
