

Alexandros Angelopoulos is the Managing Director of Aldemar Resorts, a leading hospitality company in Greece. Under his leadership, the company has introduced innovative policies and practices that have redefined Greek hospitality.

A firm believer in the power of collaboration and knowledge-sharing, Mr. Angelopoulos actively participates in various organizations and committees representing the tourism sector and entrepreneurship in Greece. Currently, he holds the positions of Vice President of the Board of Directors of the Hellenic Entrepreneurs Association, Member of the Board of Directors of the Hellenic Chamber of Hotels, Member of the Leadership Council of Boston University in Greece, and Ambassador of all 5-star hotels located in Peloponnese. Additionally, he holds the position of Honorary Consul of Ukraine for the region and is an elected member of the Governing Council of the University of Patras, contributing to its strategic growth.

A pioneer in integrating sustainability best practices into business, Alexandros Angelopoulos is committed to supporting and nurturing young talent through educational initiatives and mentorship programs for students and aspiring entrepreneurs. Since 2020, he has been teaching Sustainable Development in Tourism at the postgraduate level at the University of Piraeus. His dedication to sustainability earned him the title of Responsible Sustainability Leader at the Hellenic Responsible Business Awards in 2021.

Passionate about advancing tourism in the Peloponnese, he spearheaded the development of Ilis Congress Center – a state-of-the-art, energy-efficient venue designed to establish the region as a premier destination for congress tourism and international dialogue.
